

ObjectVideo sails onward with another port contract

June 3, 2004

RESTON, Va. - ObjectVideo has announced that Port Everglades, located in Broward County, Fla., has selected ObjectVideo VEW for its video tripwire technology.

The company's surveillance software will guard the perimeter of Port Everglades, one of South Florida's largest economic sites with operating revenue of more than $89 million. With the technology, port security personnel can create virtual perimeters on land and water by drawing a video tripwire directly on a computer snapshot of the camera's view.

This is the second port contract ObjectVideo, a provider of intelligent video surveillance, has received in the past month. It was selected to provide the same technology to three Florida-based marine terminals at the Jacksonville Port Authority.
